

Saints Aid 6 - Managers Pull Out

Friday, 18 May 2007

Sadly, we have had some bad news as regards the Saints Aid 6 event this Sunday. SMiSA were contacted by the club yesterday and informed that both Gus MacPherson and Andy Millen have, unfortunately had to withdraw from Sundays Saints Aid event.

The reason given is the club by way of rewarding the players for staying in the SPL have organised a holiday abroad for the team and management and this clashes with the Saints Aid event.

To say we are bitterly disappointed at this turn of events is an understatement however we are endeavoring to find suitable replacement coaches for the day and will keep you informed as we conclude this.

We considered cancelling the event but have decided to proceed and try to fill the team manager's positions.

If you have any immediate concerns about the above please contact us.

Thank you

SMiSA
