

Saints Aid 7 - Event Sells Out + Competitions Go Live!

Tuesday, 29 April 2008

The 7th Annual Saints Aid event sold out this morning, with the last available shirt being sold. This means that the auction for places has had to close early!

We at SMiSA want to thank everyone who took the time to bid for a place, and to congratulate the 23 lucky winners who will take to the pitch on Sunday, May 18th for what is sure to be a memorable occasion.

While we do not anticipate any of the 23 winners to cancel, in the unlikely event that they do, the auction will be reopened for a brief period to allow people to go for the available place.

3 places do however remain open - in 3 special competitions run by our friends at the Paisley Daily Express, the Official St. Mirren Website, and Black & White Army.com. These competitions are for the Home 12, Away 12 and Away 14 places respectively.

You can find details on the official website's competition here, and you can find details on the Black & White Army.com competition here.

To enter the Paisley Daily Express competition, just answer the following question:

Where will St. Mirren's new stadium be located?

And send your answer, name, address and daytime telephone number to:
